

ONE MILLION PUZZLE PAGE

Proposal for schools and children up to 14 years old

A global workshop of art, play, peace and citizenship: each child creates a personal puzzle piece and joins a worldwide collective artwork.

One million pieces, one collective artwork for peace

Free digital participation for children and young people up to 14 years old

This document is designed for school leaders, teachers, educators, libraries, municipalities and educational partners interested in activating a classroom participation.

What the project is

One Million Puzzle Page is a global participatory art project: the goal is to build a collective artwork made of one million pieces created by people, schools, families and communities.¹

For schools, the project becomes a simple and engaging educational workshop: each child draws a piece, expresses a message of peace or responsibility for the planet, and joins a collective map visible online.¹

Why schools

It combines art, civic education, creativity, geography, digital citizenship and teamwork in a concrete classroom activity.

Why under 14

Digital participation is free for children and young people up to 14 years old, keeping the project accessible and inclusive for classes, families and communities with limited resources.¹

Final result

Each approved piece enters the project archive and contributes to the global collective artwork.

Source: ¹ <https://onemillionpuzzlepage.com/>

Educational objectives

- Develop creativity, imagination and expressive skills through drawing.
- Reflect on peace, the environment, cooperation and shared responsibility.
- Strengthen the sense of belonging to a community larger than the individual class.
- Encourage positive use of digital tools: create, upload, share and respect the work of others.
- Stimulate collaboration, listening and personal storytelling through a group activity.

How a class participates

1	School registration	The school or teacher fills in the interest form and indicates class, student age and contact person.
2	Educational kit	The class receives instructions, the puzzle-piece template and guidance for the classroom activity.
3	Creating the pieces	Each child freely draws their own piece using colours, words, symbols or messages.
4	Online upload	The pieces are photographed or scanned and uploaded through the channel indicated by the project only by a parent/guardian or an authorized responsible teacher.
5	Review and publication	Works are checked before publication to ensure safety, respect and consistency with the project.
6	Certificate and sharing	The school can receive a participation certificate and share the experience with families and the community.

What is needed in class

- One or two hours of workshop time, adaptable to the students' age.
- Printed sheets/templates, pencils, markers or any free artistic technique.
- An adult contact person to collect the pieces and send them in digital format.
- School authorization and, when required, consent from parents or guardians.

Practical information

Cost	Digital participation is free for children and young people up to 14 years old. Physical versions, prints or additional services may be managed separately.
Age	The programme is designed for children and young people up to 14 years old, with activities adaptable to primary and lower secondary school.
Minor safeguarding	Children do not upload their drawings directly. Uploads of minors' artworks may only be performed by a parent/guardian or an authorized responsible teacher, under the responsibility of the school or family.
Privacy	The school must collect and manage the necessary authorizations. Data and images must be processed in compliance with applicable regulations and the school's internal procedures.
Content	Pieces must respect educational purposes, inclusion, non-discrimination and language suitable for minors. The project may review content before publication.
Contact	To join or receive the school kit: schools@onemillionpuzzlepage.com . General contact: info@onemillionpuzzlepage.com . Website: onemillionpuzzlepage.com

Message for families

Participation allows children to contribute to a collective artwork dedicated to peace and the planet. The activity values creativity, collaboration and responsibility, with no purchase obligation for minors up to 14 years old in the digital participation.

Call to action for the school

Activate a pilot class and bring your school's first pieces into the global map of One Million Puzzle Page.

Note: this document is an information sheet. Before operational activation with minors, it is recommended to prepare a privacy notice, school/family authorizations and complete participation rules.